Job Description

Job Duties

- Plan, organize, direct, and evaluate food preparation and cooking activities for the restaurant's Cantonese seafood operations;
- Prepare and cook specialty Cantonese dishes, including lobster, crab, seafood, fish, poultry, and banquet-style meals;
- Develop and create new Cantonese seafood recipes and seasonal menu items while maintaining authenticity, quality, and presentation standards;
- Plan menus and ensure all dishes meet the restaurant's quality, consistency, and customer service standards;
- Supervise, coordinate, and train cooks and other kitchen staff in Cantonese cooking techniques, seafood preparation, food presentation, and kitchen procedures;
- Demonstrate specialized lobster handling, preparation, and cooking techniques to kitchen staff;
- Monitor food quality, portion control, and presentation standards throughout food preparation and service periods;
- Order food products, live seafood, kitchen supplies, and ingredients as required and monitor inventory levels to minimize waste;
- Ensure compliance with all food safety, sanitation, and health regulations, including proper handling and storage of seafood products;
- Inspect kitchens and food service areas to ensure cleanliness, efficiency, and adherence to operational standards;

- Assist in coordinating food preparation for large-scale banquets, special events, and group dining functions.

Requirements

- Minimum 3 years of experience as a Cantonese Chef in a restaurant environment;
- Proven experience preparing live lobster and high-end Cantonese seafood dishes is required;
- Strong knowledge of traditional Cantonese cooking methods, seafood preparation, and banquet-style cuisine;
- Ability to supervise and train kitchen staff in a fast-paced restaurant environment;
- Secondary school completion is required.
